Crist - Jenkins

A beautiful home wedding occurred in Independence on New Year's day, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins, when their daughter Miss Mae Jenkins was united in marriage to Mr. Clifton R. Crist, of Corvallis, Oregon, Rev. Muchmore, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

Miss Jenkins has been a teacher in the Sunland school for the past two years, and has greatly endeared herself to the families of that vicinity. Two auto loads of young people went from there to attend the wedding. A few days previous to the wedding she was surprised by a "shower," at which she received many useful and beautiful gifts, showing the high esteem in which she is held.

Mr. Crist, who is a rancher of the Willamette Valley, was formerly a student at Whittier college and a pupil of Rev. Muchmore's, and is spoken of in the highest terms by his friends and acquaintances, at school and at Manzanar, where he lived for some time.

Rev. Muchmore is very highly esteemed by the valley people who knew him at Whittier and it was in happy coincidence to have him officiate at this wedding.

The exigencies of the draft hastened the wedding, necessitating Miss Jenkins resignation in the middle of the term, much to the regret of the Sunland people.

Congratulations and best wishes are extended by their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Crist will visit friends at Los Angeles and San Francisco, and will be at home at Corvallis, Oregon, on January 15th.

Parmelee - Inman

There was a beautiful home wedding at the A. W. Applegate home on G. and 3rd street Sunday afternoon at two thirty when Miss Laurice Aline Inman became the bride of Mr. Frederick Chuncey Parmelee. The bride wore a beautiful creation of white silk organdie and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses, tulle and satin ribbon.

The bride's sister Miss Edith Inman and uncle R. A. Poole served as bridesmaid and best man. The color scheme of decoration was pink and white, carnations prevailing in vases and a beautiful screen of smilax overlaid with pink sweet peas and orange blossoms before which the bridal party stood while the impressive ring service was read by Rev. E.L.B. McClellan, of the First Presbyterian church. After the ceremony the hostess served an elaborate luncheon.

Only a few near relatives and near friends were present to witness the happy affair.

A reception was held later in the afternoon and many friends too this occasion to greet the happy pair and wish them joy in their new life.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmelee then departed for El Centro, where the groom had prepared a pretty home for his bride.

Tatum-Schober

Possibly the first wedding of 1927 in the whole United States occurred Friday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Schober, when their daughter Hazel became the bride of Leonard L. Tatum.

The solemn ceremony performed in the presence of a score or more of relatives and friends, was begun by Rev. F. C. B. Belliss at three minutes before the stroke of midnight, and the all-important concluding words were spoken just after 1927 had come upon the scene.

A sumptuous supper followed the tying of the nuptial knot.

Mr. and Mrs. Tatum expect to make Bishop their home. Many friends wish them, whether here or elsewhere, unbounded happiness.
