The conditional tax credit certificate has no value, expires on the day the department issues the explorer a transferable tax credit certificate, and may not be sold, transferred, conveyed, or purchased. Limits tax credits for certain losses and expenditures to expenditures incurred before July 1, 2017, except that a carried-forward net operating loss credit against the oil and gas production tax may be earned for all of calendar year 2017. Limits purchases using the oil and gas tax credit fund for tax credit certificates to certificates for credits against the oil and gas production tax that were earned for activity occurring before July 1, 2017, and for expenditures incurred before July 1, 2017, with the exception of a certificate for a carried-forward net operating loss credit earned during calendar year 2017, of which the department may purchase one half the value. Repeals the carried-forward net operating loss credit against the oil and gas production tax on January 1, 2018. Creates a carried-forward annual loss lease expenditure, which is a lease expenditure in a previous calendar year, that has not been previously used, and that was incurred to explore for, develop, or produce oil or gas outside the Cook Inlet sedimentary basin. Subject to geographic and temporal limitations, a carried-forward annual loss may be applied in determining the production tax value of oil or gas. Creates a legislative working group to analyze the state's fiscal regime and tax structure for oil and gas and recommend changes during the second regular session of the Thirtieth Alaska Legislature. Repeals the oil and gas tax credit fund once there are no outstanding applications for the purchase of tax credit certificates or claims for refunds or payments and it has been at least one year since a person has applied for a purchase, payment or refund from the fund. (CCS HB 111)
