

Chapter 60 Improving the Oversight System of the Party and the State

We will build an authoritative and effective oversight system with complete coverage under the Party's unified leadership. We will establish mechanisms for the exercise of power that ensure sound decision-making, resolute execution, and effective oversight. We will see to it that principal responsibilities and supervisory responsibilities in enforcing full and strict Party self-governance are fulfilled, strengthen political oversight, and intensify political inspection as well as the rectification of issues that are uncovered. We will see that there is overall alignment in oversight conducted through disciplinary inspection, supervisory bodies, internally stationed inspectors, and inspection tours, and promote coordination between various types of oversight with intraparty oversight in the main role. By doing so, we will establish durable synergy for conducting oversight and make it so that the oversight system is better integrated with the broader system of national governance. We will deepen reform of the disciplinary inspection and supervision system, strengthen the leadership of disciplinary and supervisory commissions at higher levels over those at lower levels, push for disciplinary inspection and supervision work to become more law- and standards-based, and give full play to the role of supervision in guaranteeing that decisions are executed and promoting development. We will improve mechanisms for applying checks over the allocation and exercise of power, see that power is exercised according to the matter in question and provided according to the functions of different posts and the authority of different levels, and refine the practice of periodic job rotation. We will refine systems for keeping the public informed about matters being handled by the Party, the state, the judiciary, etc., and build effective mechanisms for discovering problems, rectifying errors, and precisely enforcing accountability. All this will help establish an accountability and oversight system with full coverage. We will continue to subject all officials to the same level of scrutiny, leave no stone unturned, and show zero tolerance in our anti-corruption efforts, and make coordinated efforts to ensure that officials do not dare to engage in corruption, and that they have neither the opportunity nor the desire to do so. This will create a clean and upright political and development environment. We will also deepen international cooperation against corruption. We will resolutely implement the central leadership's eight-point decision on improving work conduct, perfect permanent mechanisms for improving Party and government conduct, continue to rectify bureaucratism and pointless formalities, prevent the resurgence of hedonism and extravagance, and take firm steps to address instances of corruption and misconduct that are of immediate concern to the public.