A story of contradictions

The dramedy This isn't Sweden tells the story of the contradictions a pair of young parents encounter while trying to protect their children from the dangers of life.

To raise their daughters in a more "authentic" environment far from their painful childhoods, Mariana and Samuel move to a mountainous neighbourhood of Barcelona where they find a community of people with the same goals.

However, when tragedy strikes the neighbourhood and destroys their idyllic perceptions, Mariana and Samuel fall into doubt and fear, pushing them dangerously close to everything they were trying to get away from.

DATING IN BARCELONA

This series tells the story of people who meet face-to-face after connecting online.

They're looking for sex, love, or just someone to keep them from feeling lonely. The outcome of these dates isn't always what you might expect: there's deception, false lives, infidelity, dangerous sex...

This format is also a romantic date with Barcelona, which serves as a backdrop. The audience gets to visit some of the city's most iconic spots, like the Sagrada Família, the old port or La Rambla. It also connects us with daily life in the city through locations in lesser-known neighbourhoods.

The international distribution of CITES BARCELONA is managed by FILMAX INTERNATIONAL SALES.

MIRÓ

The Birth of an Artist

Joan Miró is one of the 20th century's great Surrealist painters and sculptors.

This film portrays the difficulties he faced at the start of his artistic career: a domineering father, a shy, introverted personality and a single passion—painting.

This is a film about a passion for art and a yearning for freedom, about the life of young Miró from his first few years until his first great triumph.

LIFE OF A DIVA

Begoña Alberdi

A life story fit for an operatic tragedy

Opera is about love, sadness, tragedy, drama, hard work, pain, emotion and passion. These words also describe Begoña Alberdi's life story. During the COVID lockdown, this soprano stepped out onto her balcony every evening to sing for her neighbours in Barcelona.

Alberdi's past and present are a story full of pain and suffering that includes household abuse and the loss of her dearest love.

Nevertheless, this documentary is also about hope, survival, and the lustre of the lights that shine just before the curtain closes. It's an homage to a remarkable, living woman. It's about the second, third and fourth opportunities that life can offer us and how, in the end, we always find a song that inspires us to fight back.

The Signing

The story of the signing of F.C. Barcelona's most charismatic player, Johan Cruyff: a man that represented freedom and hope.

This documentary explains the negotiations –secret until now– that led to the signing of an incredible player who changed the story of European football forever.

The “Mick Jagger” of worldwide football was a breath of freedom in the dying days of the Franco dictatorship, when he was one of European football's most sought-after players. Against all odds, in 1973 “the Flying Dutchman” arrived at F.C. Barcelona and changed the team's history forever.

But how did a group of intrepid negotiators manage to overcome so many obstacles? What are the secrets behind the scandal of the “homegrown” South Americans? Why is Gerd Müller, Johann's greatest rival, a key piece of the puzzle? How did Cruyff's wife Danny tip the scales?

An exciting story about how persistence, bravery and plenty of brains brought the man who changed European football to Spain.

DELTA

This is the story of a rural female entrepreneur who works to fulfil her dream while fighting against machoism, corruption, malice, ignorance, existing beliefs and disdain.

This story emphasizes the value of family, the importance of being able to trust those closest to you and, above all, how to deal with the loss of what you love most.

"I know this much is true", "Martin Eden", "Rachel Getting Married".

Logline: Eli is a young woman from the Ebro Delta who works alongside her father on a fishing boat. Her whole world comes crashing down the day her father abandons the family, who discovers he's been living two lives. Forced to find a new job as a fisherwoman, Eli is faced with the harsh reality of machoism.

TOR

Tor is a village of just thirteen houses, with dark stone walls filled with stories of bloodshed, hate and jealousy. It's like a fictional drama, but far too real. Despite its small size, Tor is in a strategic location: on the border between Catalonia and Andorra, it's close to both ski slopes and paths used to smuggle tobacco and other products.

The local families feud with one another and resort to murder to obtain control of the mountain. Researcher Carles Porta, who has been investigating the case for over 20 years, returns to the village of Tor with the belief he knows who the murderer is.

This is an exciting real story of lies, betrayal and excessive ambition told by the protagonists themselves. It's a first-class documentary that draws viewers in and surprises them from the very start.

EL MAL (Evil)

The streets of Barcelona are eerily deserted; the whole city is in lockdown. While scientists and the authorities focus on halting the spread of the virus, several homeless people are beaten to death in the streets by a serial killer. Meanwhile, multiple elderly inhabitants die in a nursing home; they are first believed to be victims of COVID-19, but an autopsy soon reveals that at least one may have been poisoned.

Nevertheless, the pandemic isn't the real focus: it's the background, the metaphors, and the chance to show an empty, desolate, almost surreal city. In this dead city, everything has ground to a halt... or so it seems. Beneath this Barcelona in lockdown is another hidden city where crime persists and evil spreads like a contagious disease.
