

Thank You

We express heartfelt gratitude to each and every one of you who generously supported The Walrus in 2023, which marked the 20th anniversary of our publication. Your unwavering commitment meant that we could continue to deliver insightful reporting to readers across Canada and beyond, helping them navigate the complexities of our world and gain a deeper understanding of themselves. Support for independent, fact-based journalism remains crucial, and we are immensely thankful to you for making our work possible this past year.

The Walrus Trust

We thank the following visionaries for making an exceptional, multi-year contribution. This level of investment enables us to do our very best work and earn our place among the nation's most trusted media organizations. We are immensely grateful to our Trust members for making this possible.

Publisher's Circle

Producing rigorously fact-checked journalism and ideas-based events at The Walrus depends on philanthropy and sponsorship. We extend our appreciation to all those who contributed to making our mission a reality in 2023.

We also express gratitude to the numerous sponsors of The Walrus Talks and The Walrus Gala 2023: Who We Are Now for their invaluable partnership.

Benefactors $100,000+

We extend profound thanks to The Chawkers Foundation, our founding donor, for their enduring dedication to supporting Canada's writers and artists and emerging journalists. Their commitment has not only sustained us for two decades but has inspired others to join in contributing to Canada's vibrant conversation.

Optimistic Canadians

Multi-year commitments enable The Walrus to operate in an environment designed for success rather than survival. With the ongoing challenges of the media landscape, having this philanthropic support as an independent registered charity is critical to our work.

We thank all of our Optimistic Canadians for their steadfast support of fact-based journalism.

2023 Fundraising Campaign

In celebration of our 20th anniversary in 2023, our year-long fundraising campaign focused on speaking to Who We Are Now as Canadians. With the help of 2,377 supporters, the campaign raised over $180,000 to help power our journalism. The Walrus thanks each and every donor who responded to our call to action to help keep The Walrus independent and accessible to all. A special thanks goes out to iconic Canadian storyteller Margaret Atwood, whose matching donation inspired hundreds of others to step up and support fact-checked journalism and storytelling.

The Walrus Fellowship Program

The Walrus Fellowship program empowers emerging talent, providing them with invaluable opportunities to hone their skills and contribute meaningful stories to our community. Through a commitment to fostering the next generation of storytellers, the following supporters played a crucial role in sustaining independent journalism and amplifying new voices:

Canadian Race Relations
Foundation
The Chawkers Foundation
CIBC Foundation
Geoff Beattie and
Amanda Lang
(Cannonbury Foundation)

Journalists for Human Rights
Justice Fund
Toronto
Power Corporation
of Canada
TD Bank Group

We also thank the McLean Foundation, Birks Foundation, and the Norman and Margaret Jewison Foundation for their contributions to The Walrus Fellowship Fund.
