INTRODUCTION

WITH THE FIRST SESSION OF THE 55TH OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE CONCLUDED, Senate and House members again proved their continued commitment toward establishing Oklahoma as one of the most business friendly states in the nation.

Budget issues dominated the 2015 legislative conversation. On February 17th, the State Board of Equalization certified the final FY-2016 state budget, a budget $611 million less than the certified budget for FY-2015, and double the original anticipated shortfall amount for FY-2016.

The budget shortfall resulted in numerous bills filed to eliminate or alter important economic incentives. Bills with sunset provisions for historic building rehabilitation and biomedical research—two key economic incentives that have played a significant role in the redevelopment of downtown Oklahoma City, Tulsa and many rural communities—passed the Senate but failed to gain House approval. RIED opposed these bills throughout the session and is pleased they did not move forward.

Although opposed to the elimination of specific, proven tax incentives, RIED does support review and analysis of incentives to determine their effectiveness. Following suggestions from the Pew Charitable Trust, and with the support of RIED, the legislature approved a measure to create an 'Incentive Review Committee' to review current and future tax credits, report on their success and make recommendations for future policy. Companion legislation was also passed to ensure tax incentives introduced in the future state clear and measurable goals, allowing the legislature and the Incentive Review Committee to have a transparent means of evaluation.

Early in the session, RIED supported bills designating funds for the Oklahoma School of Science and Mathematics (OSSM), the Oklahoma Center for the Advancement of Science and Technology (OCAST) and the Career Tech System for Education and Workforce Development (CTSEWD). Although the individual bills did not advance, and both OCAST and CTSEWD received reduced FY-2016 budgets, OSSM received an additional $250,000, a much needed increase after several years of severe budget cuts. Created by the legislature in 1992, OSSM is a center of educational excellence and a tremendous business recruitment tool. OSSM students have the highest ACT scores in Oklahoma with over one-half attending and graduating from one of the state's higher education institutions. More than 1,400 OSSM graduates live and work in Oklahoma, and are contributing to the state's economy on a daily basis.

A modern, safe and efficient transportation infrastructure system is essential for Oklahoma to prosper economically. Although funding for the Oklahoma Department of Transportation (ODOT) was reduced by 6.25% ($12.3 million), ODOT will continue to receive its full appropriation to the Rebuilding Oklahoma Access and Drivers Safety (ROADS) Fund, keeping its eight-year highway and bridge construction plan intact and on schedule.

While stabilizing a reduced budget and continuing to preserve necessary tax incentives, the legislature also provided minor clean-up language for the workers' compensation codes, passed legislation to increase health care services—particularly beneficial to Oklahoma's rural areas—and passed a variety of individual bills impacting business and job creation.

Each year, The Research Institute for Economic Development examines the hundreds of pieces of legislation filed and evaluates how the votes of individual legislators act to advance or hold back job growth and business expansion in Oklahoma. This session, twelve House members and seven Senate members achieved perfect scores of 100 while an additional 101 received passing scores of 70 or higher—resulting in the highest overall scores since RIED was created in 1997.

Twenty-one pieces of legislation were utilized to create the 2015 RIED Report. Each of the bills passed both the Senate and House, and were signed into law by Governor Mary Fallin.

Information regarding RIED's positions on legislation was forwarded to legislators beginning shortly after the legislature convened February 2nd, and continued until the session concluded May 22nd. RIED also responded to requests for research on individual bills and shared our position by providing updates to RIED members.

The 2015 RIED Report can be found in the subsequent pages and at www.riedreport.com.

Susan Winchester
PRESIDENT, RESEARCH INSTITUTE FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Research Institute for Economic Development is to promote economic growth through the evaluation of business, job and economic growth issues considered by the Oklahoma Legislature.

WHO BELONGS AND WHO GOVERNS

A board of directors elected by the overall membership governs the Institute. Any business, partnership, corporation, association or individual whose application for membership is approved by the Board may become a member upon payment of dues. Members are eligible to serve as officers and participate on committees.

RESEARCH

Institute research creates a profile of each legislator's individual voting record for bills dealing with business, industry, job creation and economic growth issues deemed important by the private sector. All legislation introduced during the session regarding issues listed below is evaluated. Each legislator is graded with respect to his or her position on each bill.

TAXES	TECHNOLOGY	RURAL ECONOMIC GROWTH
ENERGY	SMALL BUSINESS	TRANSPORTATION
WORK FORCE DEVELOPMENT	INSURANCE AND HEALTH CARE	WORKERS COMPENSATION
TORT REFORM	MANUFACTURING
JOB GROWTH	MILITARY IMPACT

A wide range of reports, graphic illustrations and voting profiles are disseminated across the state based upon each legislator's voting record.

RIED IS NON-PARTISAN. WE DO NOT LOBBY ISSUES, ENDORSE CANDIDATES OR CAMPAIGNS.

BILL SCORING AND EVALUATION

BILL SELECTION

Proposed legislation relating to business, job creation, elevation of income or economic growth can be nominated for evaluation. Nominations come from business interests, chambers of commerce, trade organizations, professional societies, academic interests, individuals and members of the legislature.

WEIGHTING

Bills are weighed on a scale from five to twenty with the most important legislation from this session receiving the highest weight. RIED staff reviews each bill and assigns an initial score. A private sector focus group comprised of RIED board members and representatives in the fields related to the proposed legislation follows the bill through the legislative process and issues a final recommendation. A committee made up of RIED board members or their designee meets to evaluate the bills being considered as well as to approve the bills used for final scoring.

BILL LIST

Legislators receive the current RIED bill list:

- After the first committee deadline date
- After the deadline to hear bills in their chamber of origin
- After the second committee deadline date
- After the deadline to hear bills in the opposite chamber
- Periodic updates are sent as bills are signed out of the conference committees (daily if necessary)

CALCULATION OF MEMBER VOTES

Approximately 20 of the most significant business related bills are used in calculating the final scores.

- Unless otherwise noted, legislative votes used for final scoring are the votes cast on final reading in both legislative chambers
- Member scores are determined by dividing individual points by the maximum number of points available
- Points are not deducted for absences. Absences do, however, represent a lost opportunity to score points. Co-authorship of a bill will be considered as voting in favor of the legislation.

MAJORITY OF OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE SUPPORTS BUSINESS FOCUS

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK—The Research Institute for Economic Development (RIED), a non-partisan organization and producer of the annual RIED Report, a grading system of Oklahoma legislators' votes on key economic development and business issues, announced today that seven members of the state Senate and 12 members of the House of Representatives scored a perfect 100 on the 2015 RIED Report. The scores were awarded to lawmakers who served during the first session of the 55th Oklahoma Legislature that began February 2nd and adjourned May 22nd.

Senate members receiving perfect scores are Speaker Pro Tempore Brian Bingman (SD 12), Eddie Fields (SD 10), John Ford (SD 29), Ron Justice (SD 23), Frank Simpson (SD 14), Rob Standridge (SD 15) and Gary Stanislawski (SD 35).

House members receiving perfect scores are House Speaker Jeff Hickman (HD 58), Kevin Calvey (HD 82), Jeff Coody (HD 63), James Leewright (HD 29), Mark Lepak (HD 9), Scott Martin (HD 46), Mark McCullough (HD 30), Glen Mulready (HD 68), Tom Newell (HD 28), Pam Peterson (HD 67), Steve Vaughan (HD 37) and Harold Wright (HD 57).

Under the RIED evaluation system, legislators earn positive points when they support job creation and economic development issues. Points are deducted when they introduce or vote for legislation that negatively impacts Oklahoma's business climate. A score of 70 and above represents a passing grade while 69 and below represents a failing grade.

"Economic development, business and job creation continue to be a focal point of the majority of the Oklahoma legislature," said Susan Winchester, RIED president. "No matter what area of the state they represent or their political affiliation, legislators proved this session that Oklahoma's business environment is a top priority."

During the 2015 session, 120 of the 149 legislative members received passing scores of 70 or higher including 42 Senate members (90%) and 78 House members (77%). Overall, 82% of the total legislative membership scored 70 or higher.

"The legislative scores this session represent by far the best overall support for business during my tenure with RIED, and it is imperative that this positive attitude toward business continue next session and in sessions beyond," said Greg Love, RIED board chairman. "Oklahoma is on the move, yet we still have so much untapped potential with regards to economic development opportunities for our citizens. I am excited for our future."

The 2015 RIED Report is available at www.riedreport.com.

The Research Institute for Economic Development was founded in 1997 and promotes economic growth through the evaluation of business, job and economic growth issues considered by the Oklahoma Legislature. RIED is non-partisan and does not lobby issues, endorse candidates or campaigns.
