GreenARMY

Louisiana Legislative Scorecard 2014 Legislative Session

The GreenARMY is a state-wide coalition of organizations, civic groups, and individuals fighting to preserve Louisiana's culture and environment. The coalition has a myriad of environmental campaigns that fall under the umbrella of clean air, clean water, clean land, and healthy food.

The 2014 Legislative Session was challenging. Like past legislative sessions, this year's session had its share of good and bad bills, supporters and opponents, surprises and disappointments. The members and organizations of the GreenARMY that represent the environmental wellbeing of Louisiana had their work cut out for them.

Bills were introduced this past session to address the issues of water withdrawal from the Southern Hills aquifer, groundwater cleanup, air monitoring, Bayou Corne, salt mining in Lake Peigneur, and abandoned oil well sites. On the positive side was the overwhelming support in both houses for the bills addressing Lake Peigneur and Bayou Corne. On the negative side were a slew of bills intended to stop the lawsuit filed by the Southeast Louisiana Flood Protection Authority-East.

Methodology

The following scorecard has been developed in an effort to let the public know how State Representatives and Senators voted on environmental interests. The selected bills and amendments represent a wide range of state environmental issues and reflect the environmental voting records of the legislators.

Salt Domes

The terrible tragedy at Bayou Corne enlightened many legislators. Senator Rick Ward introduced SB 209 which addressed future disasters involving salt dome cavern storage. SB 209 passed unanimously. Representative Karen St. Germain was also successful in passing a resolution that requested the office of conservation to study the effect of implementing certain requirements for operators of salt dome caverns.

Members of the GreenARMY were successful in having legislation passed that supported the efforts of Save Lake Peigneur, Inc. The new legislation requires public hearings before issuing permits to drill or operate a new solution-mined cavern or to expand or convert an existing solution-mined cavern in Iberia Parish. It also requires that the mining company must submit a report that provides a baseline analysis of groundwater in the area of a permitted activity including both the water level and salt content, a plan for monitoring the groundwater in the area for levels and salt during the activity permitted, a geologic analysis of the integrity of the salt dome, and the results of an analysis of testing that attempts to determine the source and composition of the foaming or bubbling appearing in Lake Peigneur.

For eight years the community has been trying to get a comprehensive study and an explanation of the bubbling on the lake. Save Lake Peigneur, Inc. has benefitted from the leadership of Representative Sydney Mae Durand and Senator Troy Hebert since the first efforts at legislation began in 2007. Their first successful bill was brought forth by Senator Hebert and passed in 2009. It protected drinking water, but was deemed unconstitutional a few months later. In 2013 two more bills failed. In 2014 with the leadership of Senator Fred Mills a positive environmental solution advantageous to both Save Lake Peigneur, Inc. and AGL Resources, Inc., the mining company, was created, and a legislative package authored by Senator Mills was passed unanimously by both houses. That was no small feat.

Abandoned Oil Wells

The issue of abandoned oil wells and the pollution problem they cause has been a long recognized problem in Louisiana. Legislation addressing this issue was introduced by Representative Robert Johnson, but was stalled in the House Natural Resources Committee. He then introduced HCR 102 which proposed having the Department of Natural Resources and the Oilfield Site Restoration Commission review the abandoned wells and make rule changes that would result in quicker cleanup and a more comprehensive review. It cleared the legislative process, and passed before the Legislative Auditor's scathing report on the program was released.

Flood Protection Authority Challenged

The most controversial and intense legislative activity was initiated to fulfill the Governor's desire to stop the lawsuit filed by the Southeast Louisiana Flood Protection Authority-East (SLFPA-E) against 97 oil and gas companies that would hold them accountable for their part in the destruction of coastal wetlands. While there were more than a dozen bills introduced in the House and the Senate to stop the lawsuit, SB 469 finally became the bill that was used for this purpose.

Passage of SB 469 was a long and heated battle. During the legislative process, the bill was amended to make it retroactive in order to stop the previously filed lawsuit. The most consequential vote came in the Senate when Senator Martiny introduced an amendment to eliminate the retroactive provision of the bill. This amendment failed on a 19 to 18 vote. The GreenARMY was very disappointed by several Senators who opposed the amendment, especially Senator Rick Ward, III and Senator Greg Tarver.

A vast majority agrees - newspapers, media, and voters of Louisiana - that the lawsuit should go through and that taxpayers should not be forced to pay for the coast Big Oil broke.

STOP SB469

To stop SB469, tell your Rep:
SB469 must be referred to the House Committee on Civil Law - not House Natural Resources - because the substance of the bill deals with legal rights and procedures.

from the attorneys on the committee. Representative Connick and Representative John Bel Edwards should be commended for their efforts on the House floor to amend the legislation.

Looking Back

While there was plenty of drama, disappointment, and excitement over the passage and defeat of legislation during the 2014 Legislative Session, overall, the GreenARMY did make some progress and put environmental issues into the forefront. This had not happened for a long time.

Additional Comments On Legislators

Representative Neil Abramson, D98-NOLA

Representative Neil Abramson, an attorney, did not recuse himself and was repeatedly under fire during the session for having a conflict of interest as he has provided significant defense work for oil and chemical companies. He was absent for seven of the votes evaluated in the scorecard.

Representative Patrick Connick; R84-Marrero

Representative Patrick Connick authored HB1075 on littering and HCR 10 that addressed coastal issues. He also presented a strong opposing voice to SB469 when it was before the House Natural Resources Committee

Representative Gordon Dove; R52-Houma

Representative Gordon Dove is the chair of the House Natural Resources and Environment Committee and a point man for the Governor's opposition to the Southeast Louisiana Flood Protection Authority-East lawsuit. Representative Dove also has a long history of promoting oil and gas interests and undermining environmental safeguards.

Representative Ray Garofalo; R103-Chalmette

Representative Ray Garofalo sponsored an air monitoring bill that was voted out of the House Natural Resources and Environment committee on which he sits. However, once the bill moved out of committee he made no effort to bring it to the floor.

Representative Ted James; D101-Baton Rouge

Representative Ted James was encouraging to community members who testified about living next to polluting refineries. He voted in support of them, and during committee hearings he asked insightful questions about the experiences of living near industry. He personally greeted those who testified afterward as well. His actions in the committee showed that he understands the issues regarding pollution, health and exposure by the nearest neighbors to toxic chemicals.

Representative Robert Johnson; D28-Marksville

Representative Robert Johnson was a strong advocate for environmental cleanup of abandoned oilfield wells. When his initial legislation stalled, he introduced a resolution to make rule changes in the review and cleanup process of these sites.

Representative Joel Robideaux; R45-Lafayette

Representative Joel Robideaux voted in favor of oil industry interests at every opportunity. He even managed to be absent for two unanimous votes in favor of mild Salt Dome Regulation (SB 209 and HCR 54).

Representatives Franklin Foil, Eddie Lambert, Jack Montoucet, and Stephen Ortego

These representatives are to be commended for their opposition to SB469 when it was before the House Natural Resources Committee.

Senator Robert Adley; R36-Benton

Senator Robert Adley was the Governor's chief floor leader in the effort to kill all possibility of legal remedies that would hold the oil and gas industry accountable for damage to the Louisiana coast and coastal wetlands. When Senator Adley's bill appeared to be headed to defeat, he enlisted the assistance of Senator Brett Allain. Senator Allain allowed the content of his bill SB469 to be replaced with the content of Senator Adley's bill. This maneuver, however, had some major flaws, and though SB469 passed and was signed into law, it is currently in litigation.

Senator Brett Allain; R21-Morgan City

Senator Brett Allain in an effort to kill the Southeast Louisiana Flood Protection Authority-East lawsuit allowed the content of a bill that he introduced to be replaced with Senator Adley's antilawsuit initiative.

Senator Eric LaFleur; D28-Ville Platte

Senator Eric LaFleur is to be commended for recusing himself from voting on SB 469. He recused himself because he works at a law firm that represents oil and gas companies, and believed it to be a conflict of interest.

Senator Fred Mills, R22, St. Martin

Senator Fred Mills deserves an AAA+ for his exemplary efforts to protect citizens and the environment in Louisiana. For three years Senator Mills, a man of great integrity, worked side by side with Save Lake Peigneur, Inc. dismissing insults, humiliation, and opposition influence, but he never wavered in his resolve to fight for the citizens and our drinking water. He encouraged other Senators to open their minds and listen, and was instrumental in bringing the Natural Resources Committees to listen to our pleas. Senator Mills' dedication to stand by his constituents and his willingness to compromise in order to protect our drinking water and environment should be the paradigm for our legislators.

Bills and Amendments

The GreenARMY has chosen bills that are indicative of environmental progress or setbacks. The Legislators were graded on these votes and also their votes on amendments that would have changed the impact of the legislation.

Go to <http://gogreenarmy.com> to get an electronic copy of this scorecard, see an interactive map showing the scorecard data, and follow the GreenARMY as we march steadily towards a safe and healthy Louisiana!

About

Former Lt. Gen. Russel Honoré is mobilizing the "GreenARMY, an alliance of civic, community, and environmental groups and concerned citizens from around the state ready to effect meaningful social, political, and environmental change in Louisiana.

Honore became involved in environmental issues when residents from Bayou Corne-
