

CERTIFICATE of RECOGNITION

Office of the Mayor

Engineers are an important part of any community, especially in Fort Worth with the economic and professional impact those in the career path make on the city every day.

From the chemical to the mechanical, electrical to the civil, all types of engineering tackle complex technologies that the city depends on to provide the best experience for all who live in Fort Worth.

For this Engineers Week, we thank everyone in the demanding profession for their skills and knowledge in the craft that contributes so much to the community
