In 2020, Children's Health Defense advanced false and misleading claims related to the COVID-19 pandemic, including the claim that wearing a face mask can cause health problems. A May 2020 article headlined "The Risks vs. Benefits of Face Masks- Is There an Agenda?" said, "Wearing a face mask causes one to re-breathe the carbon dioxide (CO2), that the lungs are attempting to expel. This in turn reduces the immune response, negatively affects epithelial cell function (cells in the lungs and blood vessels) and lowers the amount of oxygen exchange across the alveolar membranes." Children's Health Defense based its claim on an article from Dr. Russell Blaylock, a retired neurosurgeon, posted on the anti-technology website Technocracy.news, which NewsGuard found to have repeatedly published false content.

Why Vaccine Skeptics Feel the Way They Do

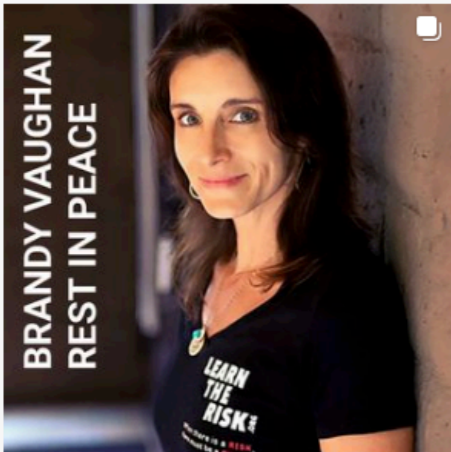

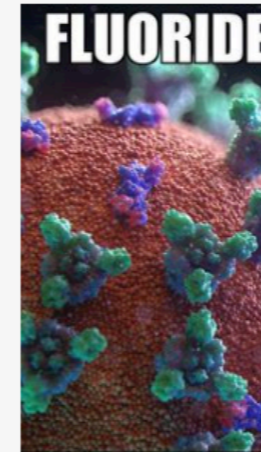

Vaccine skeptics usually do not arrive at their conclusions overnight and in fact, most were pro-vaccine at the start. It is a process in which the further you research the topic, the more you learn how weak the evidence is supporting vaccines...

There is overwhelming evidence of the following:

- Published studies have been severely compromised and do not provide an acceptable level of informed consent. They cannot be trusted to form reliable conclusions
- Vaccines are dangerous for certain people – even life threatening
- We have no idea of what the medium to long term effects of vaccines are because of the significant lack of testing
- There are many examples of conclusive evidence linking vaccines and autism – neurological disorders
- There are many examples of health officials covering up the link between vaccine and autism – neurological disorders
- Vaccines do not perform as we are told and, in many cases, they've been shown to be not effective at all
- Vaccine induced herd immunity is not a viable hypothesis, but more likely a marketing ploy to increase vaccine uptake
- The risks of not vaccinating are far lower than we have been led to believe
- Vaccines did not save us from infectious diseases in the 20th century
- Pharmaceutical companies cannot be trusted to, and do not, protect the welfare of their customers
- Pharmaceutical industry's priority is to gain market share and expand profits, not health care
- Vaccine regulatory agencies have been corrupted and cannot be trusted to provide us with proper informed consent
- Leading policymakers and politicians who promote vaccines have all been sponsored by pharmaceutical companies in some form or another and some even profit from vaccine uptake
- Traditional media sources do not tell the whole story about vaccines
- Vaccine manufacturing is outsourced to India, China and many other parts of the world where there is lower manufacturing standards and even less regulatory oversight than in the U.S.
- Pharmaceutical companies and health officials are purposely avoiding, and will continue to avoid, performing and vaccinated versus unvaccinated population studies because if they do, the truth will come out about vaccines deficiencies

After reviewing the information, can we really blame parents for being apprehensive or skeptical about vaccines?

I have just watched Plandemic: INDOCTRINATION WORLD PREMIERE on the Digital Freedom Platform - London Real.
Created by the team behind the game-changing Plandemic video segment from Mikki Willis featuring Dr. Judy Mikovits that went viral and was banned on every major social media platform for exposing the truth about Covid-19, this new FEATURE-LENGTH PIECE promises to be the most revelatory film on what is driving the vaccine agenda, the various roles of the WHO, Bill Gates, Tedros Adhanom, Anthony Fauci and more.

Between November 26, 2020, and November 28, 2020, Brandy Vaughan rented an RV, and took her son on a road trip to Arizona to visit her soul-family for Thanksgiving. They enjoyed a wonderful Thanksgiving meal - "vegetarian style" for herself and her son, and played games, laughed and joked into the wee hours of the night. The next night, more of the same — fun and laughter playing cards late into the night. Brandy commented on how this is what she always wanted for her son, to have a big family to spend time with. At one point, she smiled, looking over towards the kids in the living room, and said, "this is perfect!" During the entire
