The Dayton Business Journal has named the honorees for the 2024 Leaders in Diversity Awards.

The awards recognize organizations that have contributed to harnessing diversity within their workforces and actively taking the lead to promote and champion diversity within the community or their industries.

The awards also honor individuals within the community or for-profit and nonprofit organizations who have shown outstanding initiative to promote diversity and inclusion, either in their organization or community, making a positive difference in others' lives through contributions to social justice, equality and diversity.

Honorees will be recognized both online and in-print on Oct. 25.

The awards banquet will take place Thursday, October 24th from 11:30-1:30pm at the Presidential Banquet Center in Kettering.
