Understanding intellectual disability and mental health information survey

The Royal College of Psychiatrists would like to understand what information resources people with intellectual disabilities and their carers find helpful.

We want to understand:

- How we can direct patients and carers to helpful resources
- What new resources we could produce that would be helpful
- How people with intellectual disabilities and their carers use and access these

When we say 'resources' we mean things like physical leaflets, web pages, videos, Easy Read resources and links to websites.

Please complete a 5-minute survey to help us.
