BACKGROUND

Project DYNAMO is comprised of combat veterans and civilian volunteers working on the front lines, and beyond, to rescue Americans, NATO allies, and other vulnerable civilians safely out of hostile territory. Using over two centuries' worth of combined military, special operations, and intelligence experience, Project DYNAMO has rescued more than 7,000 people from conflict zones around the world — operating where the U.S. government is unwilling or unable to operate.

It is fundamentally important to me and the entire DYNAMO team that we follow through on America's commitment and values to never leave a person behind, which is why we are doing what we're doing. We are not political. We are Americans doing what Americans do and have always done.

- Bryan Stern

LEADERSHIP

Project DYNAMO is led by Bryan Stern, a multi-tour combat veteran of the U.S. Army and Navy who has conducted hundreds of small to large scale operations in over 60 countries.

Stern has more than 27 years of intelligence and special operations experience focused on Hostage Rescue, Counter-Terrorism, Counter-Proliferation, Critical Technology Protection, Sensitive Activities, Foreign Materiel Acquisition, Unconventional Warfare, and discretionary operations in contested or denied areas.

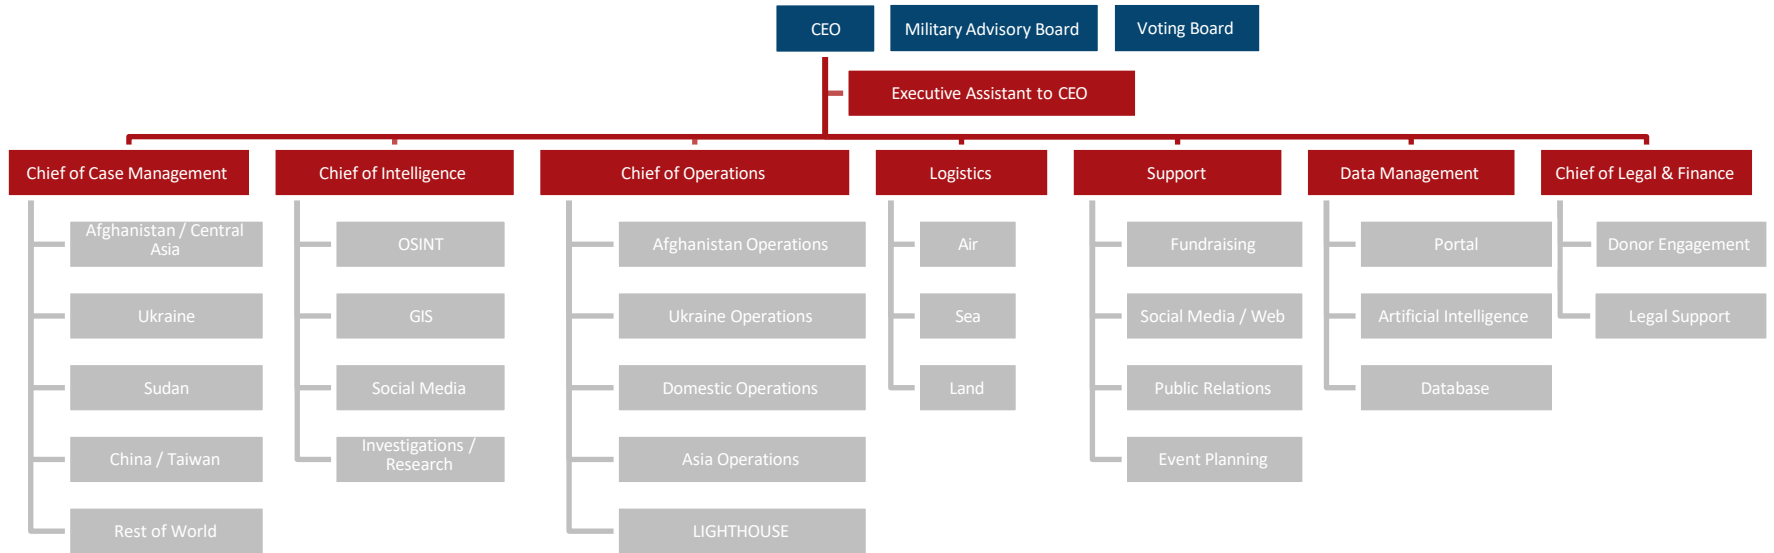

Bryan is a leading expert in transnational threats, Great Power Competition, conducting operations in denied areas, and the design and execution of non-standard rescue missions. He specializes in developing human and physical infrastructure in contested areas, conflict zones, and denied areas.

Stern is a Purple Heart recipient and has been recognized on numerous occasions by the U.S. Secretary of Defense, Secretary of the Army, Chief of U.S. Army Infantry, and Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, and others. Stern was also a military first responder on the morning of September 11th in New York City.

Stern is a frequent contributor to international media, U.S. and allied governments, academia, as well as the commercial and financial sectors, addressing difficult problems and geopolitical crisis.

Project DYNAMO is credited with more rescues of American citizens from denied-areas than any other Governmental or Non-Governmental Organization in the world.
