

The Henry L. Stimson Center

Lobbying and Other Legislative & Political Activities Policy

The Stimson Center does not engage in lobbying activities beyond those which may be permitted under its 501(c)(3) charitable status. Allowable lobbying activities may only be conducted with the expressed, written approval and full knowledge of the Center's president. Allowable and authorized lobbying activities will be closely monitored by the Center's president to ensure such activities do not jeopardize the Center's operating status or community standing.

Employees or other sources performing work on behalf of the Stimson Center may elect to engage in political or legislative activities on her/his own cognizance, but only when not performing work for, or under the auspices of, the Stimson Center.

Employees or other sources performing work on behalf of the Stimson Center must publicly express that she/he is engaging in such activities as an individual citizen and not on behalf of the Stimson Center.
